M-240 Mount

500 Rd Quick Change Magazine

Dillon's line of gun mounts is not limited to the M134. A lightweight, universal gun mount is also available for the M-240. The Universal gun mount shares the excellent handling characteristic of the M134 mount, and it is designed to be completely compatible with the M134 Vertical Arm.

This means that any platform equipped for the M134 system, can, in a matter of seconds, be equipped for the M-240.

The Dillon M-240 mount can be fed from either the standard 200 round ammunition can, or Dillon's DAB500 ammunition magazine. The DAB500 holds 500 rounds of 7.62 millimeter ammunition. The 500 round capacity greatly reduces the gunners need to change magazines, thus reducing dropped magazines, gun down-time, and aircraft exposure.

Dillon M-240 mounts and high capacity magazines are currently used by the US Army in both ground and aviation applications.
